railroad line from Hanoi to Communist China.

The MIG17 interceptor was shot down during a raid by Air Force F105 Thunderchiefs on North Vietnam's northwest rail line 19 miles northwest of Hanoi. The F105s from Thailand had just come off a bombing run on a bypass bridge when the MIG got behind one of the American planes and attacked it.

Another Thunderchief pilot, Maj. Donald M. Russell, 35, of Westbrook, Maine, maneuvered his fighter-bomber behind the MIG.

"It was beautiful," said Russell. "All of a sudden I was looking right at his tail. I slowed down, opened up on him and he caught fire and spiraled toward the ground."

It was Russell's first MIG kill and the 86th for American pilots in aerial combat. Communist MIGs have downed 26 U.S. planes.

In another aerial duel over Phuc Yen, the main MIG air base on the Pentagon's list of targets still out of bounds to American pilots, Air Force F4C Phantom fired air-to-air missiles at two other interceptors, but the Air Force said no damage to aircraft on either side resulted from that battle.

Navy pilots ran into a barrage of missiles and other heavy anti-aircraft fire over Haiphong. An A4 Skyhawk was lost, and the pilot was missing. Other U.S. pilots reported knocking off five anti-aircraft sites in the area and said the fire was heavier than it had been in the last few weeks.

The attack on the sprawling military compound three miles southeast of the center of Haiphong was the fourth in 10 days. Intelligence reports had indicated there were about 70 barracks and other buildings in the huge compound, and the Navy said at least five were destroyed Wednesday.

Other Skyhawks and Crusaders hit again at the Lach Tray shipyard 1.7 miles southwest of the center of Haiphong, and the Navy said five support buildings were destroyed there. The boatyard had been reported heavily damaged in a raid on Oct. 12.

The key Air Force raid was on the Lang Dang railroad siding 64 miles northeast of Hanoi and only 22 miles from Red China's border. Pilots reported 20 boxcars destroyed or damaged. Just south of the demilitarized zone B52 Stratofortis attacked enemy base camps and bivouac areas three miles southwest of the U.S. Marine outpost of Con Thien.

and questioned the ethics of a now retired general.

It was "at least unethical" for Maj. Gen. Nelson M. Lynde Jr., who was commanding general of the Army Weapons Command at the time of the initial procurement, to accept employment with Fairbanks Whitney, now Colt Industries Inc., five months after his 1964 retirement from the Army, the report said.

"In spite of his assertion of no interest in the M16 rifle activities," the subcommittee report said, "his name appears on distribution lists for intercompany memorandums involving the M16."

Lynde could not be reached for comment.

The report said Colt negotiated fixed-price contracts on a 10 per cent profit basis. But it contended a review revealed profits ranging from 19.6 per cent for 1965 to 13.4 per cent for the first four months of this year.

Henry Hillman, Colt's vice president for public relations, denied there had been any excess profits and said his firm welcomes an audit.

"It's the most efficient automatic rifle available in the world today," Hillman said.

In calling for an audit of contracts awarded to Olin Mathieson, the investigators said this firm's status as sole source of ball propellants for many years "and their close relationship with the Army may have influenced the decision makers."

William L. Wallace, vice president of Olin Mathieson's Winchester-Western division, said the powder criticized has been used successfully around the world since it was developed in 1940.

Wallace said his firm never has tested the powder's performance in the specific gun. He said it was the "Army's problem" to find out if the powder best suited the gun.

"Any powder that the Army bought from us was made to their specifications, not ours," Wallace said. "We have never been informed that the powder didn't meet the specifications established by the Army."

Jury Has Mississippi Rights Case

By JAMES BONNEY
Associated Press Writer
MERIDIAN, Miss., (AP) — The government charge that 18 men conspired in a Ku Klux Klan plot to execute three young civil rights workers in 1964 was in the hands of a federal jury today.

After six hours of deliberation, the all-white jury of seven women and five men was locked up in a hotel Wednesday night to resume their deliberations at 8:30 a.m.

U.S. Dist. Judge Harold Cox ordered the jury to bed after a marshal brought him a note from the jury room. First, he conferred with the prosecution and the 12 defense lawyers.

Under a Reconstruction era law, the men were charged with conspiring to violate the civil rights of the three men who were slain. Maximum punishment: 10 years and $5,000 fine. No state charges were filed.

In final arguments, Asst. U.S. Atty. Gen. John Doar, head of the Justice Department's civil rights division, recommended that one defendant, Travis M. Barnett, 39, be acquitted.

But, Doar added, acquittal of the others "would be saying there was no night time release (by Deputy) Cecil Price, there are no White Knights, there are no young men dead, there was no murder."

The government contends that the three civil rights workers were arrested at Philadelphia, Miss., June 21, 1964, by Neshoba County Deputy Sheriff Cecil Price, held in jail until night, then delivered to a band of waiting White Knights of the Ku Klux Klan.

Defense lawyers pictured the case as an effort to use "central power to intimidate Mississippi" and described Doar as "the man who put James Meredith in Ole Miss." Meredith is the Negro student, now living in New York City, who desegregated the University of Mississippi in 1962 after a long court fight.

Three FBI informers who were the principal government witnesses were repeatedly criticized in defense arguments.

The civil rights workers were Michael Schwerner, 24, a Brooklyn social worker who was in Meridian for the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE); Andrew Goodman, 20, a New York college student who had just arrived for a summer of civil rights work; and James Chaney, 22, a Meridian Negro who assisted Schwerner.

Their bodies were buried deep in a new clay dam on a farm near Philadelphia. Defense efforts to find out who told the FBI the exact location of the bodies were never answered.

riot-trained Madison city police. At least 65 persons were injured in the melee.

Demonstrators vowed to continue the struggle and discussed classroom strikes as a possible retaliatory measure. They were supported by several hundred sympathetic faculty members.

The demonstrators were protesting the presence of representatives of the Dow Chemical Co., manufacturer of napalm for the war in Vietnam, on campus to interview job applicants.

Chancellor William H. Sewell said Wednesday night he would suspend, at least temporarily, further interviews "to guard the safety of our campus."

Sewell also said the university would prefer charges against leaders of the campus demonstration and suspend them from school, referring their cases to the student conduct committee.

On the West Coast, Arleigh Williams, dean of students at the University of California's Berkeley campus, said his office was charging at least 20 students with violating university rules in the on-campus antiwar rallies.

Antidraft demonstrators continued their protest at the besieged Oakland Army Induction Center and the arrest of 91 squatters at the door brought to more than 300 the numbers of persons seized since the protests began.

Gov. Ronald Reagan, en route to the National Governors Conference in the Virgin Islands, warned that demonstrators step up their protest, California could use the National Guard.

In Buffalo, N.Y., 200 antiwar demonstrators paraded peacefully outside the local draft board chanting "We won't go." Ten men, including one clergyman, turned in what they said were draft registration cards.

In Northampton, Mass., about 35 youths picketed the town hall

HERBERT E. MORROW

BILOXI, Miss. — Master Sergeant Herbert E. Morrow, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Morrow of Rt. 5, Prescott, Ark., has received the U.S. Air Force Commendation Medal at Keesler AFB, Miss.

Sergeant Morrow was decorated for meritorious service as an air traffic controller at Fairchild AFB, Wash. He was cited for his professional skill, knowledge and leadership.

He is now at Keesler as a member of the Air Force Communications Service which maintains and operates a global system of air traffic control, navigation aids and communications for USAF.

The sergeant is a veteran of the Korean War.

He attended Prescott High School, and has studied at McMurry College, Abilene, Tex.

Sergeant Morrow's wife, Joan, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren W. Singleton of 202 Ozan St., Prescott, Ark.

the North slowly ground down to a state of military impotence. They assume he will want to stop the war before that point is reached and retire to rebuild his strength and perhaps to fight again another time.

The game of trying to read the minds and assess the intentions of the government in Hanoi has been going on for almost three years.

Opinion here on peacekeeping has vacillated between the feeling Ho would agree to negotiations and the thought he will refuse to do so on any terms acceptable to President Johnson.

The greater emphasis now given to the fade away theory is due in part to Ho's persistence so far in rejecting Johnson's various overtures and those of many other would-be peacemakers.

Officials note that North Vietnamese spokesmen have said repeatedly for the past year that if President Johnson halted the bombing unconditionally there could have been talks.

But they have never been willing to say flatly that there would be talks.

Soviet and other Communist officials have said talks would be held in three or four weeks if Johnson stopped the bombing. But U.S. officials say even the Soviets were unable to commit Hanoi definitely to negotiations if the bombings were stopped on Hanoi's terms.

U.S. officials who held the fadeaway theory say there might be deeper reasons why Ho is unwilling to negotiate. One such possible reason is that in the peace exchanges thus far through diplomatic channels no party has succeeded in producing a compromise peace formula.

Another argument advanced by U.S. officials is that Ho may wish to avoid any kind of international inspection system to guarantee enforcement of whatever agreements were made for the future of South Vietnam.

In spite of these arguments no one in Washington is able to say the view in Hanoi will not change with the changing circumstances of the war. This is the major reason why Johnson administration officials say the United States must continue to probe for peace.

Hating the bombing is a far more serious action for President Johnson than putting a new peace proposal into diplomatic channels or writing another letter to Ho Chi Minh, however.

The nation's military leaders have made known their opposition to any respite for North Vietnam. Nevertheless administration officials recognize that Johnson is concerned not only with the periodic probing of the possibilities of negotiation but also with demonstrating he is willing to do what he can within the limits of his policy to get North Vietnam to a conference table.

King May Be Called Into Ala. Court

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Contempt charges filed in 1963 against Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and seven other ministers are a step closer to enforcement with the call for issuance of arrest orders by a circuit judge.

Judge William Barber said Wednesday he received directives regarding the case from the Alabama and U.S. Supreme courts before upholding the original contempt citation issued April 23, 1963.

King and the others are accused of participating in parades and demonstrations in defiance of a court order prohibiting them. The charges were filed after King released statements of a news conference critical of the court and its proceedings.

Barber said arrest orders would be delivered to sheriffs in Alabama and if any of the defendants came into Alabama they would be arrested. Since the charge is a misdemeanor, Barber said, none of the men can be extradited.

King was not available for comment but one of his chief aides in the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, the Rev. Ralph D. Abernathy of Atlanta, also cited for contempt, said, "We will gladly surrender in Alabama. Our plans are not complete, but we have been waiting for this step. We have been together so far, and we will stay together."

Abernathy said King was out of town but he did not know where he was and he was thus unable to say when they would return to serve the sentence.

King has said previously he would return to Alabama to serve the time.

Three of the ministers, the Rev. J.W. Hayes, John Thomas Porter and T.L. Fisher, live in Birmingham but were unavailable for comment.

"I have received considerable encouragement, but it's much too early to make any kind of statement," said Shell, 45, a former prosecuting attorney who has served in the Arkansas House. He is in the first year of his second six-year term as chancellor of the Second Judicial District.

Boyce said he was not "prepared to make an official announcement at this time," but that he would be visiting each of the district's 15 counties this fall "to determine the advisability of my candidacy for this vacancy."

"With strong hopes and expectations of becoming a candidate, I feel committed to a course that will insure the election of a Democratic successor to Mr. Gathings," Boyce said.

Boyce, however, did not take himself out of speculation that he would run for governor again.

"I have always been interested in public service and this (the congressional district) would be one definite area I would be interested in, but it does not necessarily preclude other areas of public service," he said.

A candidate like Boyce would be "dynamite" in the race because he has made a statewide campaign before, giving him an advantage in the sprawling East Arkansas district, according to one observer.

"With a district of that size, it would be like running for governor," he said.

Asians Seek to Punish Rhodesia

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Seventeen Asian and African nations sought support today for new demands that Britain use force to bring to heel the white minority government of Rhodesia.

Britain, with strong U.S. backing, has already informed the United Nations that it does not intend to use its armed forces against the rebel regime of Rhodesian Prime Minister Ian Smith.

The British stand—spelled out in the assembly's policy debate by Foreign Secretary George Brown—has been rejected by the 17 protesting nations headed by Tanzania.

Informed sources said the African-Asian group is basing its demand on the generally acknowledged fact that economic sanctions ordered against Rhodesia by the Security Council last December have failed.

The proposed resolution would affirm that the only "effective and speedy way of bringing down the rebellion is through the use of force" by Britain and would state that sanctions must be "comprehensive and mandatory and backed by force" to have any effect.

It would also condemn the presence of South African police in Rhodesia and call on Britain to expel them.

South Africa has contended that its police are posted in Rhodesia for the sole purpose of preventing terrorists from traveling through that country en route to South Africa.

Most diplomats at the United Nations have written off the 10-month-old boycott against Rhodesia as a futile move that has no chance of toppling the white government.

Britain had held to the view that strong economic pressure, particularly the cutoff of oil imports, would eventually force Smith out of office.

HOUSE VOTES

limitations sponsored by a Republican and a Southern Democratic leader. The basis measure was one of a series of bills for temporary financing to carry government agencies over while their regular financing appropriations are pending.

The current temporary financing runs out Monday.

On the key vote 67 Democrats joined 171 Republicans against 155 Democrats and 9 Republicans.

The major provision of the House resolution would require that government agencies, with some major exceptions, hold spending in the current fiscal year to last year's levels.

Schultz testified this would mean limiting expenditures to $129.4 billion, a reduction of $7.1 billion compared to the current budget estimate of federal expenditures in the current fiscal year that began July 1.

He said this estimate of expenditures is apart from any additional increase in spending on the Vietnam war and from civilian and military pay raises above the President's request.

Administration Democrats predicted the Senate would either delete or greatly water down the spending restrictions and the matter would go to a conference of the two houses.

Such a conference, however, could deadlock and hold up the financing measure beyond the Monday deadline.

Many members of Congress have said spending should be cut before taxes are increased. President Johnson has asked for a 10 per cent surcharge on personal and corporate income taxes, mostly to pay for increasing Vietnam war costs.

The President and Congress have been fighting back and forth about which should do the cutting. Johnson says he can't slice spending until Congress has finished appropriating and he knows what he has to work with.

overlaid in many respects.

The House resolution in specific limitations on two programs that have been special targets of economizers: antipoverty and foreign aid. Both face extended periods of month-to-month financing because their regular legislation is tied up in sharply divided committees.

The House decreed that the Office of Economic Opportunity would be limited to spending at an annual rate of $1.2 billion. At present it is authorized a rate of nearly $1.7 billion and Johnson has asked a regular appropriation of about $2 billion.

For foreign aid, the monthly authorization was set at an annual rate of $2 billion, while under existing arrangements the agency could spend at a rate of $2.95 billion and the appropriation request is $3.26 billion.

American Loop Votes to Expand

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO (AP)—The American League has voted to expand to 12 teams by 1969 and shift the Kansas City franchise to Oakland, Calif., for 1968.

This seems simple enough, but it took 15 hours, and then some, in a behind-the-scenes melodrama finally to accomplish it early today.

Charles O. Finley received the necessary votes—reportedly 7-3—to move the Athletics to Oakland. At the same time, Kansas City and Seattle were awarded expansion franchises effective "as soon as practicable but not later than the 1971 season."

In the case of Seattle, the franchise is contingent on the city passing a $40-million bond issue in February for a multi-purpose domed stadium.

Kansas City last spring approved a bond issue for a $43-million sports complex that would be ready in 1971. Meanwhile, major league baseball could be played in the A's home stadium.

Kansas City's delegation was so angered that the city faced prospects of wiling as long as 1971 without baseball that League President Joe Cronin reconvened the owners past midnight and hammered out appeasement on expansion by 1969.

This came after an incensed Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., a member of the delegation, said he would call a news conference in Washington this afternoon, and after one Kansas City fan fumed that the league "has rewarded the man who sabotaged baseball in Kansas City and has left the city without baseball until 1971."

But by early morning, Cronin was able to announce that, after a meeting soon with the National League to discuss expansion, the American League would take all action within its power: "To select a new ownership of the Kansas City club prior to March 1, 1968, in order that the Jackson County Sports Complex Authority would be able to obtain a commitment on a long-term lease on the proposed stadium in Kansas City; and to enable the new club to field a team for the 1969 season."

Seattle said it also prefers the 1969 target date.

There were "no comment" replies flying all over the place when club owners were pinned down.

One source, however, said the vote taken was on a package deal that included Finley's shift to Oakland as well as the expansion plans.

"All I wanted was to get six votes to go with mine and I did," smiled Finley. "I will name my new manager this weekend in Oakland. He already has been selected. I'm going to ship the A's mascot—Charlie O, the mule—out there."

Thinks Twins Criticized Unfairly

By LEW FERGUSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Pitcher Jim Kaat believes the Minnesota Twins have been subjected to unfair criticism nationally because of what he labels "totally untrue" allegations about a player vote on a World Series money share for former manager Sam Mele.

"I've got a lot of personal letters on it," Kaat told The Associated Press Wednesday, "and I'd like to set the record straight. Fans across the country are critical of the Twins because of misinformation which has been circulated about this incident. It isn't fair."

The Twins voted on Friday night before a season-ending two-game series in Boston not to give Mele a share of Series money. Some have suggested that this vote divided the Twins and cost them a possible pennant.

Kaat calls this ridiculous. "The players thought nothing of this vote about Mele during those two games," he said. "As far as I know there was no split feeling or hard feelings on the part of the players."

"It is totally untrue that the vote on the Mele share cost us the pennant. The whole thing didn't amount to that much, but some people have tried to make it sound like the great debate."

Kaat said, "It was just an overwhelming majority against him (Mele) getting a share. Nobody led any opposition group to Mele; everybody had a free choice. It was just like any other election... the majority rules."

Mele was the Twins' manager until June 9 when Club President Calvin Griffith fired him and put Cal Ermer in his place. Kaat was 1-7 when Mele left and finished with a 16-13 record this season.

The Twins could have won the American League pennant by splitting the final two-game series in Boston, but the Red Sox swept and went on to the World Series.

Hendren to Start for Porkers

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Mike Hendren, a 6-foot-2, 195-pound sophomore who carried 20 times for a total of 80 yards against Baylor last week, has earned a starting assignment at tailback, Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles said Wednesday.

Broyles said Hendren would replace sophomore Russell Cody when the Razorbacks play Texas in a nationally televised Southwest Conference football game at Little Rock Saturday.

Cody, 5-foot-11 and 180 pounds, started the first four games of the season.

"Hendren and Cody are both working hard, and we are proud of both of them, but we decided to start Mike because of his play last week against Baylor," Broyles said.

The Razorbacks whipped through a 90-minute workout Wednesday, and Broyles called it "one of the best lassing practices we have had this fall."

He had high praise for his three quarterbacks—John Eichler, Ronny South and Gordon Norwood—and for receivers Max Peacock, Dennis Berner and David Dickey. Peacock and Berner have alternated at split end, Dickey is the wingback.

Broyles also was pleased with the Razorback morale. It's "as good as it has been this year," he said.

The Razorbacks were to spend a 90-minute session in sweat clothes today.

They will fly to Hot Springs Friday and spend the night there. Saturday's game begins at 3:30 p.m.

Duncan Very Important to Chargers

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
Would you believe Jimmy Brown, standing 5-foot-10, weighing 175 pounds and playing in a defensive backfield?

Well, you'd better believe Speedy Duncan, San Diego's diminutive cornerback, who is as important to the Chargers as Brown was to Cleveland.

Duncan scored two touchdowns against Kansas City last Sunday, set an American Football League record on one of them and was named AFL Defensive Player of the Week by The Associated Press today for his part in San Diego's 45-31 victory.

A newsman asked Coach Sid Gillman how he gets the Chargers up for a showdown game such as last week's collision with Kansas City. Gillman's reply was succinct.

"Speedy Duncan makes like the poor man's Jim Brown," he said, "and we're ready to go."

The Chargers went all right against the Chiefs. First, Duncan scooped up a Mike Garrett fumble and raced 35 yards for a TD in the opening period.

Then, in the second quarter, Duncan picked off Len Dawson's pass at the San Diego goal line and raced the length of the field for another TD. The 100-yard return was the longest in AFL history.

"That interception was beautiful," marveled Gillman. "Little Speedy is quite an opportunist."

Duncan was modest about his work.

British Hopes in Ryder Cup Hit Setback

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Britain's hopes of winning the Ryder Cup from America's million-dollar professional golf team suffered a setback today when Welshman Dave Thomas turned up with a nagging back ailment.

"I am distressed, to say the least," Dave fees, the wee Welsh captain of the British team said. "If Thomas is unable to play, we will be severely handicapped."

Thomas is a 6-2, 215-pound giant of a man who is one of the best drivers in the world.

His long, straight blasts off the tee figured to be a major asset for the invaders, particularly in the four-team matches which open the 17th biennial matches over the Champions Club Friday.

In the four-team, two-man teams play the ball, hitting alternate shots—a form of competition both in Scotland and familiar to the British. Eight-hole four-man matches will be played Friday, with eight four-ball team matches Saturday and eight singles on Sunday, each victory counting one point.

Magnolia Figured to Beat Hope

By HARRY KING
Associated Press Writer
This week's "Game of the Year" is scheduled for Texarkana Friday when Fort Smith Northside takes on the Razorbacks.

Both teams are undefeated. Northside is tied with Little Rock Hall for the top spot in The Associated Press Arkansas high school football poll this week and Texarkana is a solid third.

Hall, Northside and Texarkana are the only three Class AAA teams which are still undefeated.

Northside has a group of large, powerful backs and quarterback Dwight Moore can pass when necessary, as Little Rock Central discovered. Texarkana will pit tailback Mike Saint and quarterback Randy Hickerson against the mighty Northside defense. Northside may have a few more weapons.

Northside 13, Texarkana 7. Conway, which has recorded seven straight victories, has a chance to impress the pollsters Friday night when it plays at North Little Rock. Conway is ranked seventh and North Little Rock sixth.

Conway's schedule allows it to shoot for the big games. North Little Rock will be going with a sophomore quarterback.

Conway 13, NLR 7. Little Rock Central will attempt to remain alive in the AAA's Central Division when it hosts El Dorado. The Wildcats have played everybody tough but have had problems scoring. Central has tailback Robert Young, quarterback Richard Faulkner and wingback Carl Butler.

Central 14, El Dorado 7. Last week's percentage was .685.

Chamberlain, Robertson Back at Work

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Will Chamberlain and Oscar Robertson, two of sports' best-known holdovers, are back in the familiar roles of holding together their teams.

Chamberlain, who played in only one preseason game, scored only 11 points but handed out nine assists and grabbed 30 rebounds as the defending champion Philadelphia 76ers opened their National Basketball Association season with 103-87 victory over Los Angeles Wednesday night.

Robertson, who sat out all of the exhibition season before signing and who appeared off form in Cincinnati's NBA opening loss to Detroit, scored 41 points Wednesday night as the Royals edged San Francisco 122-118.

Baltimore's Halvorson, who scored 121-58 in the last scheduled NBA game, and Indiana nipped Anaheim 106-103 in the only scheduled American Basketball Association game.

The 76ers took a 32-30 lead in the second period on Luke Jackson's goal and built the margin to 46-35 at halftime. They then raced to a 59-48 lead late in the third quarter and coasted the rest of the way.

Billy Cunningham led the 76ers, scoring with 24 points, while Elgin Baylor topped the Lakers with 22.

Pokras, Jerry Lucas and Adrian Smith combined for 32 of Cincinnati's 45 points in the third quarter as the Royals came back from an eight-point halftime deficit to take a seven-point lead over the Royals.

Jim Kinney led San Francisco with 27 points, while teammate Fred Betzel and New York's Tommie Smith each scored 25 points respectively. The A's contributed 26 points to the Royals' attack.

Baltimore had things all its way as the Royals lost 104-95, but they were held to 30 points in the third quarter. Jack Martin scored 24 and Mike Ford 21. The Royals' Willie Reed and Fred Barnham each scored 14.

Whitney Saves U.S. From a Shutout

By CHARLES GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
MEXICO CITY (AP)—Boulder's Ron Whitney saved the lightly-numbered U.S. team from being shut out Wednesday as the track and field competition all but closed in the Pan American Games.

Whitney, a Boulder, Colo., high school teacher, gave the United States its only gold medal of the day with a 19.8 second clocking in the 400-meter hurdles, as no country dominated the track and field events.

The U.S. team, an expected power in the 1968 Olympics here but hampered by a long summer of competition and fall university classes, during these trials, now has totaled only four top medals.

Italy, with 117 athletes, among the 2,700 here from 77 countries, leads with nine gold medals, winning in such diverse competitions as rowing, gymnastics and weightlifting.

Paul Tamey of Laguna Beach, Calif., proved the biggest U.S. disappointment when a hamstring injury kept him out of his best event, the decathlon. He did compete in the 400-meter dash, but his right leg gave way after he led for 200 meters and he finished second in 49.5 seconds. Jon Warner of Poland won Yerger to Play Ashdown Here Sat.

The Yerger High School football team will vie for victory on Saturday night, Oct. 21 at Hammond's Stadium against the Ashdown Panthers, of Ashdown. The action should provide spectators with an exciting and suspenseful evening.

Students at Yerger are in the process of selling advance tickets to the game. Advance adult tickets are $1.00. Advance student tickets are 50 cents.

The culmination of the fundraising drive will be the Coronation of Miss Yerger High School and the presentation of her court. Twelve young ladies are seeking this title.

Enthusiasm is quite high among the students, and the team's spirits are high. So, Friday evening we're going to really sharpen the Tiger's claws and prepare to "Soak it to 'em" with a roof-raising pep rally and a blazing bon fire.

The big day—"L-Day for the Ashdown Panthers"—is Saturday Oct. 21.

Coach Buck Hays, who has led his Panthers for 17 seasons, will see that all good things must end and old Panthers do get weary, especially when the Tigers rough them up, beat them up and send them back to Ashdown where they came from.

Coach Willie Tate is a rookie, as this is his first year coaching, but what's a veteran against a rookie?

For a change of pace, relax and enjoy casting your eyes upon the lovely Miss Yerger High School and her court at half-time.

The vision of her loveliness and precision of the drill team and band should prove entertaining and enjoyable.

Remember, game time is 7:30 Oct. 21st. That's Saturday night, Oct. 21st.

Several other U.S. competitions were under way at the Pan Am Games. In the 100-meter dash, the U.S. team, led by the women's star, Wilma Rudolph, and Charlotte Cooks of Washington, D.C., won a second-place finish in 1:12.3.

Our man with the Armed Forces

Because beer is such a favorite with service men, we brewers have tried our best to keep it as close to the heart of the matter as possible. So, U.S.A. representatives serve as advisers to the Armed Forces. This is the United States Control Board, through the U.S.A. Beer Council.

These men from the U.S.A. Beer Council, in hand with service and civilian police, with meat, beverage, business, public boards, and committees, military, naval, professional, athletic, to protect those who are under the law and to ensure strict adherence to the law.

NEVER NEEDS IRONING! NEW OXFORD-WEAVE CASUAL SLACKS DON'T WRINKLE OR WILT

- ✓ Wear them year 'round, with sports coats or for casual wear. Oxford-weave fabric blends 30% cotton, for the rich, lustrous look of dress slack material, the sturdiness of sportswear.
- ✓ Wear & weather can't ruin their "press" because it's locked into the slack...Their creases stay razor-sharp.
- ✓ Wear them, wash them, over and over—they come through machine washing (warm) and tumble-drying with their brand-new, just-ironed good looks intact...and all without even the touch of an iron!
- ✓ Trimly-tailored, the way you like them, with straight-cut pockets, cuffed bottoms.

WIN AT BRIDGE
Expert Lead Defies Rules
By Oswald & James Jacoby
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Look at the West hand and the bidding only. What would you lead against South's four spade contract?
Your answer would undoubtedly be either a trump, a club or a diamond.
Suppose you had to lead a heart. Which would you lead? Your answer would undoubtedly be the ace. You have been taught that you don't underlead an ace against a suit contract, that you should shy away from leading an ace-queen-jack suit entirely and that in general you should not lead from strength up to strength.
All this teaching is mighty sound, yet in the finals of the World's Championship both Benito Garozzo of Italy and Alvin Roth of America led the queen of hearts.
This illustrates several things. First, there are no absolute rules of play in bridge. Next, that players of World Championship class go against normal principles when they think they have a reason to do so.
Each West was sure that the king of hearts would show up in the North hand and that

San Diego Heads Small Colleges

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The astronomical point-scoring figures being racked up by Waynesburg's powerful football team are reflected today in the latest Associated Press small-college poll. The Yellow Jackets have climbed to within easy striking distance of leading San Diego State.

Waynesburg, now averaging 62.2 points a game after routing Frostburg, Md., 81-0 last Saturday, trails San Diego State by a mere 20 points in the balloting by a national panel of 14 sports writers and broadcasters.

The Aztecs drew four votes for first place and 121 points in the latest poll. Waynesburg was named the top team on three ballots and accumulated 101 points on a basis of 10 points for a first place vote, 9 for second, 8 for third etc.

North Dakota State, a 64-19 winner over Augustana, S.D., held the No. 3 position, accumulating 90 points including 10 for one first-place vote.

Major gains were recorded by Eastern Kentucky and Northern Arizona. Eastern Kentucky climbed from ninth to fourth after trampling Northwood, 55-0. Northern Arizona, 4-2, is the only new team in the top ten. The Lumberjacks, No. 8, replaced Arkansas State on the list after the latter lost to Louisiana Tech.

Northwestern Louisiana is in the No. 5 slot followed by the University of Texas at Arlington and Parsons. The University of Tennessee at Martin, No. 9, and Wittenberg, No. 10, complete the rankings.

The Top Ten, with first place votes in parentheses and total points on a 10-9-8-etc. basis:

1. San Diego St. (4) 121
2. Waynesburg (3) 101
3. North Dakota St. (1) 90
4. Eastern Kentucky 55
5. Northwestern La. (1) 52
6. Texas at Arlington 50
7. Parsons 42
8. Northern Arizona 23
9. Tenn. at Martin 21
10. Wittenberg 20

Resolution for Merger

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The formality of filing the resolutions for the proposed merger of the University of Arkansas and Little Rock University is scheduled here Saturday.

The resolutions will be presented to the state Commission on Co-ordination of Higher Educational Finance, which was directed by the Legislative Council to study the ramifications of the merger along with other higher education problems.

No New Moscow

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet planners have decided to ban new industry from the city of Moscow, which is a main industrial center as well as the nation's political and cultural capital.

Moscow's highly diversified industry produces a wide variety of consumer goods as well as ball bearings, machine tools and chemical products.

The clampdown on new industry apparently came as part of a program to control Moscow's growth and prevent its strangulation by too much industry. The city has more than 6.5 million population and its growth is being restricted.

ONE SURVIVOR of the Chicago massacre of eight student nurses last year, Loretta Annino, is shown reading a newspaper account of her plan to run for council in her home town of San Luis Obispo, south of Manila in the Philippines. Miss Annino has been working as a nurse and shunning publicity since her return home from the nightmare of the Chicago killings and the trial that followed, in which Richard Speck was convicted of murder.

HARRY RAY MCMAHEN

Harry Ray McMahon, junior business major from Hope, is starting for the third straight year at defensive tackle for the SSC Muleriders. McMahon has been doing an outstanding job for the Riders in their 4 out of 5 wins this season. He attended Hope High School where he was coached by Fred Glaze. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Lyle McMahon of Hope.

No Progress in Ford Walkout

By BILL SIMMONS
Associated Press Writer
DETROIT (AP) — Auto negotiators ended a 14-hour session today and the striking United Auto Workers said they would not return to the bargaining table until called by Ford Motor Co.

"Apparently the company wanted to think something over," said a union spokesman when asked why no new sessions had been scheduled as they have for the past few days. The spokesman said he expected bargaining to resume sometime today.

The fifth near-marathon talks in a row came as UAW President Walter P. Reuther and his top aides wired the leaders of Ford locals that no meaningful progress had been made on most key money issues in a new contract.

The telegrams said most of the bargaining in the past few days has been confined to non-money matters, although "meaningful progress" has been made in the area of "pensions, insurance and income security during periods of layoff."

When asked if the wires were to prepare members—some of them restive over the lengthening strike—for a possible breakdown in talks, a union spokesman would say only "they were to inform the membership."

Some 160,000 workers struck Ford Sept. 7 on expiration of the old three-year contract. The strike was in its 43rd day today.

There was no elaboration of the term "income security." But Reuther's main goal had been a guaranteed annual income that would assure a worker who starts a year employed that he will get 100 per cent of his wages for the year even if laid off.

Pensions also had been a priority goal. Insurance improvements were listed among union goals, but without emphasis.

The telegrams said no meaningful progress had been made on wages, cost of living provisions and "other important economic matters."

Reuther has said he wants a big wage boost with something more for skilled workers, plus parity for Canadian workers who make about 40 cents an hour less than their U.S. counterparts.

He also said he will approve no changes in a cost-of-living escalator clause in the old contract that brought UAW members a bonus 18 cents an hour over the past three years. In its only publicly revealed offer Ford asked the union to cut back on the clause and put a ceiling on the amount it could yield each year.

LBJ Tops in Pickle Poll

CHICAGO (AP) — President Johnson's problems pretty often put him in a pickle but a pickle packers' popularity poll puts him at the top of the barrel.

Miss Pickle Poll, blonde model Sandy Wolsfeld, took the poll at State and Madison streets Thursday for the Pickle Packers International, Inc., an industry trade association in convention here.

To get the voters in the mood she gave each of them a pickle. She asked: "Whom do you want for U.S. President?"

The answers were: President Johnson 21, Richard M. Nixon 13, Gov. Ronald Reagan 10 and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy 5.

One passing admirer cast his vote for Miss Wolsfeld.

Spin Determines Folk Fair Queen

CHICAGO (AP) — Mayor Ichni and J. Daley, the son of Irish immigrants, spun a fortune wheel with a vigorous twist Wednesday to determine the queen of Chicago's eighth annual folk fair.

Then the wheel stopped and the winner was announced—Miss Ireland. "It's like something imaginary," said the winner, Helen M. Kirby, a 19-year-old bookkeeper, who lives in the mayor's ward.

Daley grinned and said, "there will be no repeat."

Scholarships Awarded Students

DAVID BARBER

David Davis of Hatfield and Janie Paschal of Fayetteville, freshmen at the University of Arkansas, have been awarded Romeo Ennis Short Memorial Foundation scholarships by the Arkansas Farm Bureau Federation.

In making the announcement, Farm Bureau Executive Vice President Waldo Frasier said the awards brought to seven the total number of students studying under the grants.

The scholarships of $200 per semester have been given since 1955 to students of the University's Division of Agriculture and Home Economics as a memorial to the Farm Bureau's second president.

Miss Paschal is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vance Paschal of Fayetteville. David is the son of Mr. and Mrs. David E. Davis of Hatfield.

The five other students now attending the University under the Farm Bureau scholarship program are: David Barber, sophomore, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Barber of Experiment Station Rt. 3, Hope; Randall Goldman, sophomore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Goldman of Evansville; Frances Carpenter, junior, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Carpenter of Hamburg; Shelby Bryant, senior, son of Mr. and Mrs. Posie H. Bryant of Austin; and Mary Jennings, senior, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Z. D. Jennings of Helena.

Aardvark Sex Hard to Tell

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Determining the sex of a baby aardvark is difficult, but the people at Miami's Crandon Park Zoo have proven equal to the test. They have a girl aardvark.

Usually the zoo doesn't really care whether its aardvarks are male or female, but this one had the distinction of being the second born in captivity and the first to survive more than a few days.

Dr. Gordon Hubbell, the zoo director, disclosed Tuesday that the gender of Crandon's baby aardvark was determined by the process of elimination and a good deal of waiting.

"If it were a male, it would have become apparent by now, and since it hasn't, it must be a female," he said.

First Ceremony Was Legal

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich. (AP) — A Clinton Township man, who had some second thoughts about a second wedding ceremony, has been told his first one was legal.

Macomb County officials did not identify the man in telling this story.

A couple was married July 28 but the justice of the peace dated the marriage license July 29.

The justice notified the couple that they should go through the ceremony again to make the marriage legal.

But the groom decided that he liked single life better and if he wasn't married, so much the better.

Then Macomb County Prosecutor George Harris ruled Wednesday that the original ceremony was valid and that the error in dates was "not material."

aboard was to "see" Venus 26,000 miles away and start a tape to record data from instruments measuring hydrogen, oxygen and radiation.

About 1:30 p.m., traveling at 19,000 miles an hour, the craft was to swing behind the planet, closing to within 2,500 miles. It was to emerge on the other side after being hidden for 26 minutes.

Distortion of radio signals as they passed through the atmosphere on either side of the planet was to give scientists a measure of the density and altitude of the atmosphere.

Playback of the recorded tape was to start 14 hours after encounter. A spokesman said it would be a day or more before data could be analyzed and preliminary results announced. "About the best we can do immediately is say whether the instruments were working during the fly-by," he said.

Mariner 5 was designed to measure the density and temperature of Venus' cloudy atmosphere, determine if the planet has a magnetic field and detect any radiation trapped in it.

Answers to these questions were radioed Wednesday by a Soviet capsule parachuted to the planet's surface from the 2,400-pound Venus 4. U.S. scientists said the 500-pound Mariner 5's findings would be welcome as a check on the accuracy of the Soviet reports.

Mariner 5 was launched last July 13, Venus 4 two days earlier.

Russian experts said Wednesday that data radioed by the capsule showed surface temperature of 536 degrees Fahrenheit and an atmospheric pressure 15 times that of earth. The atmosphere was reported made up mostly of carbon dioxide, with traces of oxygen and water vapor.

The Russians said their probe detected no magnetic field and thus no trapped radiation.

Mariner 5 was not designed to enter Venus' atmosphere and so could not measure carbon dioxide directly.

Instead, it was to try to detect hydrogen and oxygen in the outer fringe of the planet's atmosphere. Since these are among the lightest of elements they would rise to the top.

Scientists said they could calculate the amount of underlying carbon dioxide—which earth-based instruments have shown to be the major component of Venus' atmosphere—from measurements of hydrogen and oxygen in the upper layers.

Soviet confirmation that Venus' shroud of clouds is mostly carbon dioxide—a gas probably coming from volcanoes on the surface—dimmed the prospect of finding life on that planet.

Clinging evidence was the surface heat, enough to melt some metals. The fact that the Soviet capsule survived long

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Television network executives are shopping industriously for new programs and huddling nervously about ailing old ones.

The time has come, earlier than in most years, to pronounce death sentences on feeble entertainment series, to take some chances that a few ailing shows will mend and, above all, to look over the bull pens for replacements.

Usually such frenzied activity does not start until mid-November, but this year, with big, important movies capturing the attention of audiences, the Nielsen handwriting appeared almost from the very beginning.

"Dundee and the Culhane" was the first victim of the Nielsen, given a death sentence by CBS a couple of weeks ago. ABC's "Good Company" is not given much of a chance to survive beyond December, if that long. The future looks blacker than Little Big Horn for its "Legend of Custer." NBC denies furiously a rumor that its "Maya" is not long for the TV world, but has nothing much to say about the disappointing showing of "Accidental Family," a new comedy series, or "Star Trek," whose popularity has slipped since last season.

It is certain that a number of shows will be involved in complicated switches within network schedules in efforts to save shows. ABC's "Hollywood Palace," for instance, has done poorly since it was shifted into Tuesday evening spot. It is probable that it will be moved back to Saturday nights—and no one is prepared to say what will happen to "Iron Horse," which has been quietly dying in its new late evening position.

There is talk of shifting around some of CBS's comedy shows in salvage efforts.

All networks are stuck with some faltering shows they would like to knock off early, but many of them have firm commitments for 26 weeks—

Jet Propulsion Laboratory Director William H. Pickering told a news conference Wednesday that the Russian findings confirmed his belief that life as we know it could not exist on Venus' surface. He held out the possibility, however, that some strange forms could live on mountain tops and at the poles, or might "float in the atmosphere as marine life floats in earth oceans."

practically a full season—and there is always the replacement problem.

ABC, unhappy about the way "Off to see the Wizard" has turned out will have to stay with the show for awhile, but already is playing down its title and playing up the film features that will appear within its format.

CBS has an option on a new British-made series starring Patrick McGowan, late of "Secret Agent." It may pull it out as an emergency midseason replacement. Jonathan Winters will head a variety show to replace "Dundee."

ABC, with more problem shows than the other two networks, can fall back once again on the British-made "Avenue 5." It also has access to new science-fiction show, "Land of Giants," and a new action-adventure series, "Magnificent Thief."

National Nielsen ratings made public Wednesday and covering the first week in October once again show that television movies are the hottest things in television—for four two-hour movie blocks captured spots in the top-10 list. The other six shows were old favorites—"The Lucy Show," "The Andy Griffith Show," "Gomer Pyle," "The Dean Martin Show," "Bonanza" and "The Ed Sullivan Show."

"Gentle Ben," with a black bear for its star, was the highest rated new program—in 13th place. The "Carol Burnett Show" and "Ironsides" were 21 and 22 respectively.

Drops Diplomatic Diction a Moment

NEW YORK (AP) — U.N. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg dropped his diplomatic diction for a moment Wednesday night to urge extremists in the current Vietnam debate: "Let's cool it."

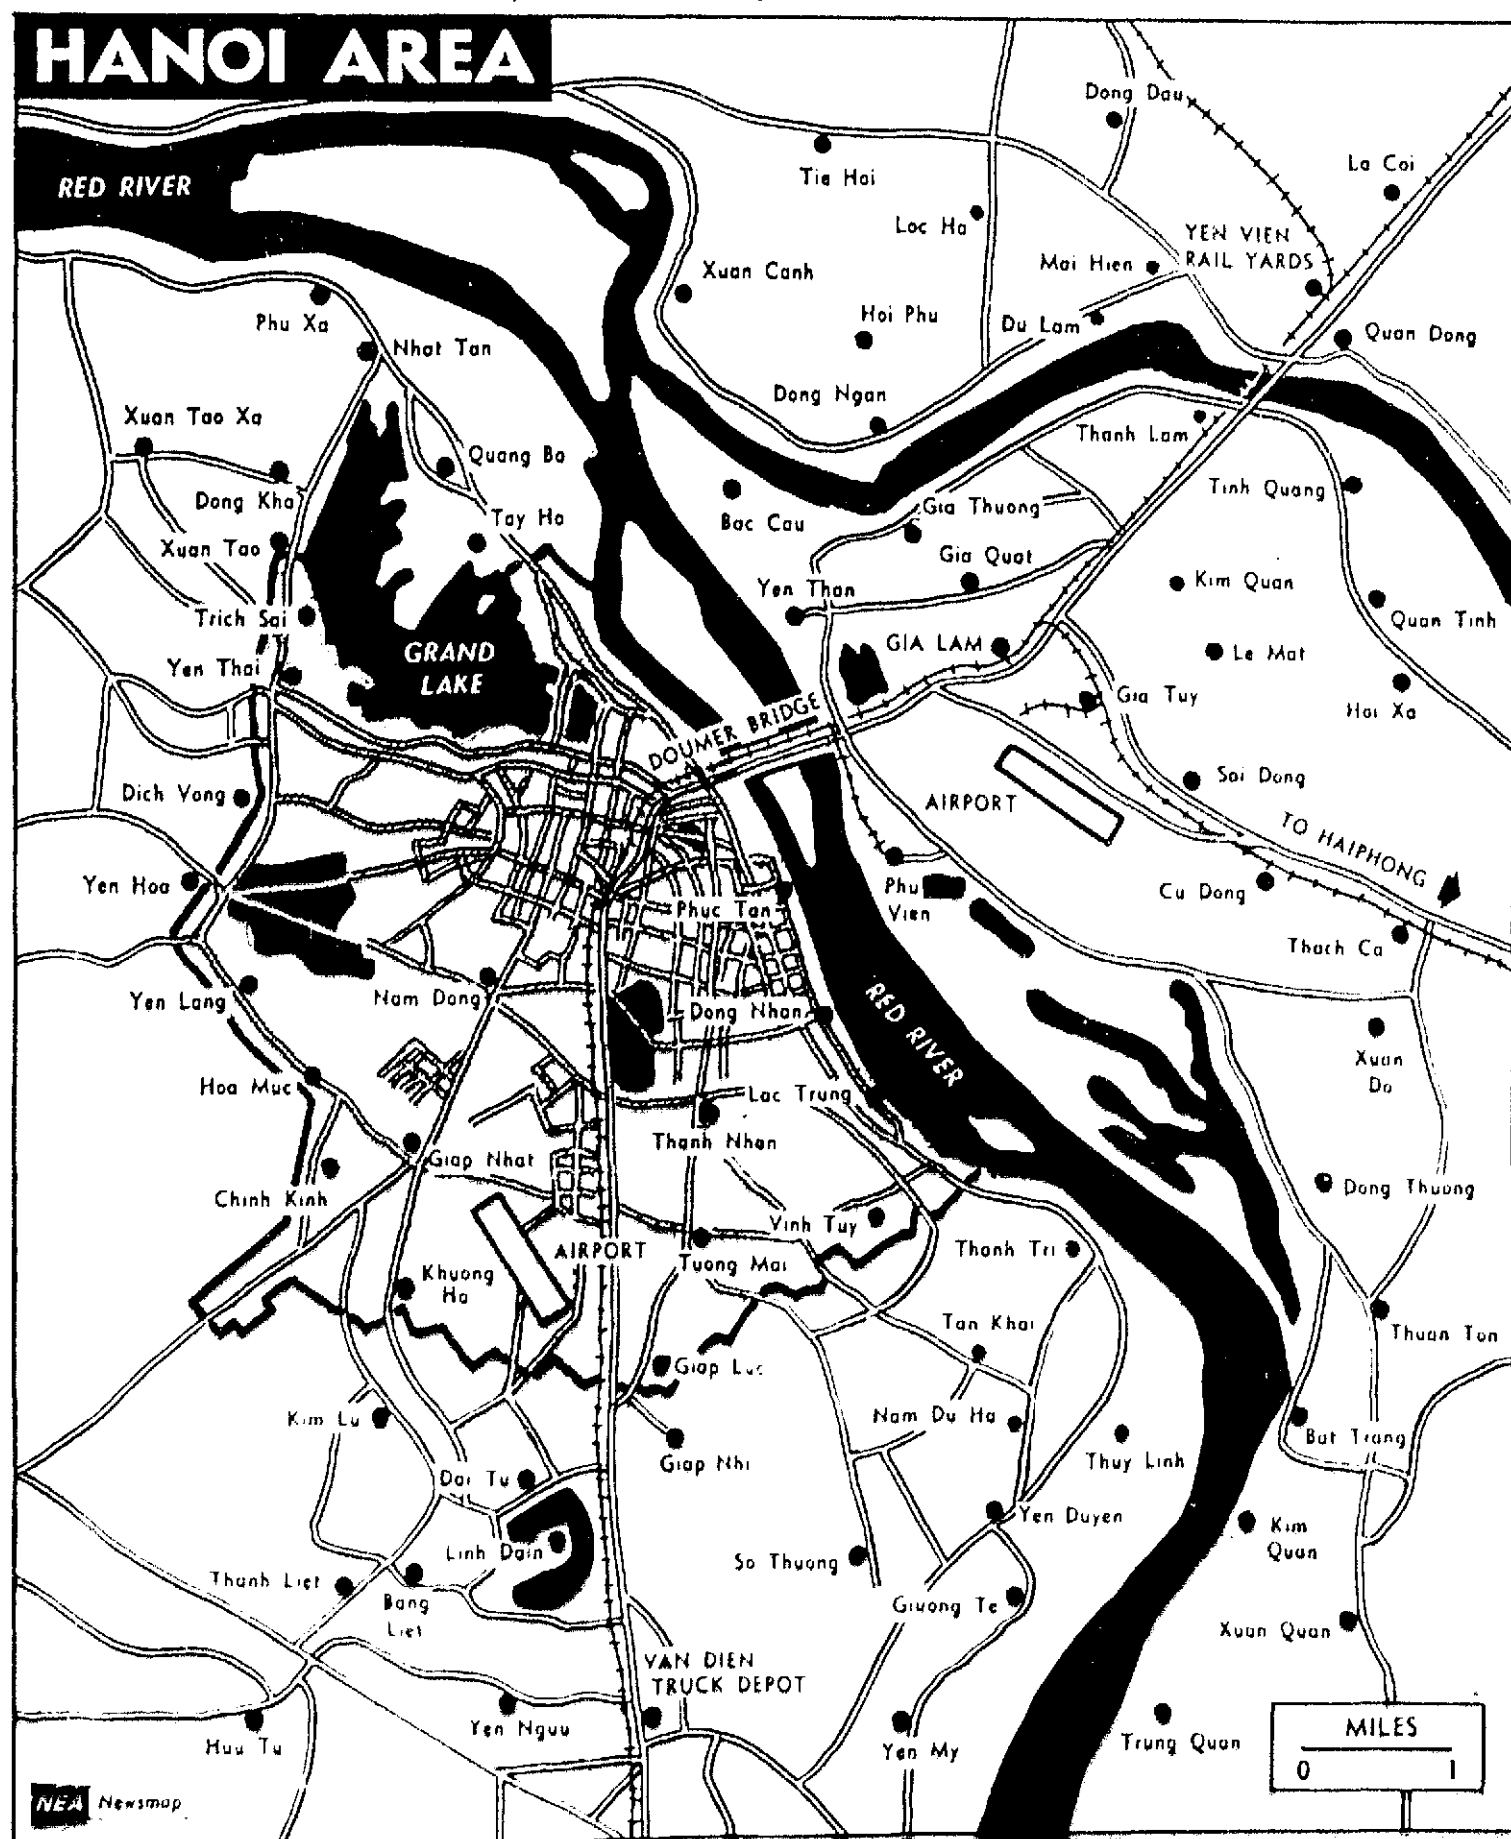

"When the President is called a usurper or when a dissenter is called a traitor, I am shocked," he told 2,000 guests honoring the late Gov. Alfred E. Smith.

"They go far beyond the bounds of healthy debate and do a grievous disservice to democracy. As our sons and daughters would say: Let's cool it."

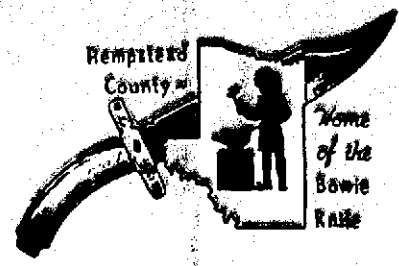

No Yard Landing of Helicopter

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa (AP) — Because the neighbors complained, the Cedar Rapids City Council moved Wednesday to keep Robert Welty from landing his helicopter in his yard.

The council gave first reading to an ordinance that would ban helicopters where there is any obstruction more than 50 feet high within 100 feet of the landing area.

Our Daily Bread

Sliced Thin by The Editor
Alex H. Washburn
If You Think Your Editor Is Harsh Listen to This!

If you used to think your editor was a pretty crusty fellow because for years he has criticized and ridiculed a slaphappy federal government that overspends taxes in peacetime as much as in time of war you know now I am not alone. I never was alone. You just imagined it. The voice of common sense never is lost among the millions of American citizens who can read and write and figure and think.

Democracy is a way of life on a volatile issue, but the hard-core issue of money isn't volatile. Whatever the majority vote may be it eventually folds up like an accordion if it repeatedly butts an adding machine.

Your editor has been writing for years that the steady rise in the federal debt in peacetime simply means that the Washingtonians are stealing our Social Security Fund blind. As I explained countless times, Social Security is a trust fund for the citizens in their old age, and the politicians have been systematically robbing it by dipping into its cash and leaving in its place a trunkful of I.O.U.'s.

You think I am harsh? Here are some excerpts from Paul Harvey's nationally syndicated column which I read in one of our exchanges, the West Point (Miss.) Daily Times Leader:

"If any insurance company were administered as Government administrators your 'Social Security Insurance' its resources would be impounded and its officers would be thrown in jail."

"All that's left in the Social Security kitty for your old age are a bunch of paper I.O.U.'s signed by your own grandchildren."

"Indeed, Social Security is presently so insecure that Missouri's Congressman, Tom Curtis says, 'I'm afraid it's going to hit the rocks in another 10 years.'"

"Treasury Secretary Henry Fowler testified before Congress last January that unless Congress at once raised the debt limit, the 'Government can cover only about half of the Social Security checks due to go out in March.'"

That's been my line ever since the second administration of Franklin D. Roosevelt, but with increased emphasis during the regimes of Truman, Eisenhower, Kennedy, and Johnson, Paul Harvey made his judgment in the column published this Oct. 10.

Once more I remind you: Read the line above our newspaper's masthead—"The tragedy of Man: He starts off with a Country—and winds up with a Government!" Fashion and politics change, and now I hear my recordings being played back on other guys' phonographs!

Compromise Rejected in Steel Strike

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The leader of the striking steel haulers says his men will reject a compromise peace proposal accepted by trucking firms, and hold out until their terms are met.

"My personal opinion is that the men are going to hold out for the two hours they've already approved," said William Kusley, who organized the wildcat walkout nine weeks ago. "Most of the men don't even want to vote on it."

The compromise was prepared by a seven-state mediation panel and approved Wednesday by trucking firms meeting in Chicago and Pittsburgh. It recommended the independent drivers be paid at least $10 an hour for every hour beyond four hours they wait to be loaded at mills.

"There's been so many changes in the plan it just doesn't make sense any more," Kusley said.

But the Gary, Ind., trucker said no decision would be made on whether to submit the plan for ratification until "we receive official notification of the carriers' approval."

"So far," Kusley said, "nobody's bothered to contact us."

Gathings Won't Seek Re-Election

By ROBERT L. SHAW
Associated Press Writer

The 1st Congressional District, represented for almost 30 years by E. C. "Took" Gathings of West Memphis, is expected to become a political hot spot in 1968 since the veteran Democrat has chosen not to seek re-election.

There already was speculation before Gathings' surprise announcement Wednesday in Washington that he faced major opposition in 1968 and veteran political observers said his retirement would increase the prospects of a wide open race.

A Paragould dentist, Dr. Ralph Ratton, 37, already had his hat in the ring and he said Wednesday he had not changed his plans to run.

Sam Boyce of Newport, a former prosecutor who ran unsuccessfully for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination last year, came close Wednesday to announcing his intentions of running. And, former Chancellor Lee Ward of Jonesboro and Chancellor Terry Shell of Jonesboro indicated they are thinking about making the race.

Reportedly, Shell and Ward, who ran against Gathings last year, had been considering seeking the seat before Gathings' announcement.

Other names crept into speculation. They included that of Bill Penix, a Jonesboro lawyer, but Penix said he wasn't thinking of running.

Blistering Report Lashes Army in M16 Rifle Program Probe

By ROBERT A. HUNT
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — House investigators accuse the Army of "unbelievable" handling of the controversial M16 rifle program.

In a blistering report after a six-month investigation, a House Armed Services subcommittee said the major contributor to malfunctions of the weapon could be traced to using an ammunition not designed nor developed for use in the M16.

"The failure on the part of officials with authority in the Army to cause action to be taken to correct the deficiencies of the ammunition borders on criminal negligence," the report released Wednesday night said.

Army spokesmen were studying the document and had no immediate comment.

The Army is committed to buy more than 1.4 million of the lightweight, rapid-firing rifles which are being used in the Vietnam war.

The rifle, as initially developed, was described as "an excellent and reliable weapon" but the subcommittee said the Army ordered modifications which were unnecessary and were not supported by test data.

The subcommittee, headed by Rep. Richard Ichard, D-Mo., also criticized sole-source aspects of the rifle program, called for government audits of both the Colt Firearms Co., the manufacturer, and Olin Mathieson, producer of the powder used in ammunition for the M16.

Truck Hits MOP Engine

About 7:10 a.m. Thursday a truck driven by Barry Randall, 65, hit a Missouri Pacific engine 170 at the Greenwood and Walnut Street crossing. Investigating officers said Randall just couldn't stop his truck in time. The vehicle was dragged about 14 feet. Nobody was injured.

Army Troops to Guard Pentagon If Antiwar Group Demonstrates

AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army may use troops to guard the Pentagon from disruption or worse in a planned massive weekend antiwar demonstration, sources say.

Officials would rather rely on the building's civilian guard force—and keep troopout of it entirely—if possible.

The degree to which troops may be brought into the situation will depend largely on any agreement reached beforehand by leaders of the demonstration and government authorities on ground rules.

There have been discussions—but no permit has been issued for the rally at the Lincoln Memorial Saturday and the march across the Potomac to the Pentagon afterward. Sponsors are hoping for a turnout as great as 100,000.

Sources indicated as many as four battalions—possibly about 3,500 soldiers—of the crack 82nd Airborne Division might be brought up from Ft. Bragg, N.C.

The bulk of such troops probably would be held in reserve at nearby bases, these sources said, but one battalion of some 850 military police might be stationed inside the Pentagon.

Officially, Defense Department officials are saying nothing. They decline to confirm or deny that their plans include possible use of troops.

"We support the right of orderly dissent," said one official. "But we cannot permit anything to interfere with the conduct of our business."

The Pentagon, like other government buildings, is operated by the General Services Administration. GSA has a force of about 200 guards, some of them elderly, assigned to the Pentagon. But there never has been a demonstration at the Pentagon

Congressman Cancels Trip to Hope Area

Phone call was received from Congressman John Paul Hammettschmidt saying that he would not be able to come to Arkansas this week to join the rest of the Arkansas Delegation in a tribute to Senator John McClellan in Camden on Thursday and come on to Hope Friday as he planned.

Congressman Hammettschmidt is on the Public Works Committee that is right now considering bills that are very important to the State of Arkansas, including the Ozarka Measure. He says it is most important that he be on hand to lend his support to these bills that mean so much to the state.

He plans to come to Hope in late November or December. He is sending the flag to the Beryl Henry School and it will be presented to the school now for immediate use. Congressman Hammettschmidt sends his regrets.

Authorities After Student Riot Heads

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

University authorities in Wisconsin and California have moved against student leaders of antiwar and antidraft protests after demonstrators in Madison and Oakland clashed with police.

In Washington sources said the Army may use paratroopers to augment the Pentagon's civilian guard force in preventing disruption or worse in a planned massive antiwar demonstration Saturday.

The extent of troop use would depend largely on any agreement on ground rules reached beforehand by demonstration leaders and government authorities. Officials would prefer to keep troops out if possible, it was said.

LBJ Likely to Halt Bombings Soon in a Test to End the War

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
AP Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some time in the next few months President Johnson is likely to stop bombing North Vietnam in a new test of possibilities for ending the Vietnamese war.

Such action has been widely and persistently demanded by critics of the President's war policy, and many officials consider it virtually inevitable. But they hold little hope now it will lead to peace talks.

On the contrary, there is growing belief here the war may never be settled by negotiations—in the end it may simply fade away, with Communist military operations subsiding into small scale guerrilla activity and terrorism.

The basic assumption underlying this view is that U.S. and allied military might will prevail over enemy forces in South Vietnam and will make the war too costly for North Vietnam to continue.

The bombing of North Vietnam is considered by President Johnson and Secretary of State Dean Rusk to be an important means of imposing that heavy cost yet also is a pressure which can be withdrawn when timing is right to probe President Ho Chi Minh's attitude toward peace.

U.S. leaders believe if Ho Chi Minh does not negotiate short of defeat, he will see his forces in the South and his resources in

House Votes $7 Billion Spending Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's budget director testified Thursday a resolution passed by the House Wednesday night would force government spending cuts of something like $6 billion to $8 billion.

Charles L. Schultze testified before the Senate Appropriations Committee. Administration forces are hopeful it will junk or greatly water down the spending restrictions voted by the House.

Indicative of that hope was a statement from George Christian, White House press secretary: "The matter is still pending. We'll wait and see what develops." Christian declined more direct comment.

The House voted 238 to 164 to write into an emergency funding bill two stringent spending

10 Marines Killed, 19 Wounded

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. pilots downed their first Communist MIG in more than a month Wednesday, but stragglers on the heavily defended port of Haiphong cost the 76th American combat plane lost over North Vietnam, the U.S. Command announced.

As Navy bombers from the carrier Oriskany made repeat raids on the sprawling compound where Russian missiles and helicopters arriving by sea are assembled, the Communists kept up their pressure just below the demilitarized zone between North and South Vietnam.

Red troops ripped into the rear platoon of a U.S. Marine company with withering small arms and machine-gun fire eight miles southwest of Quang Tri City. Ten Marines were killed and 19 wounded.

The steadily increasing part that U.S. troops are taking in the war was reflected in casualty totals announced today which showed 7,263 Americans have been killed in action since the first of the year. This was more than half the total 13,907 U.S. combat deaths in the entire war.

The weekly U.S. Command summary of casualties showed American combat deaths increased last week while those of other allied forces and the enemy declined. U.S. headquarters said 171 Americans were killed in action, 977 were wounded and two were missing or captured. The week before 102 Americans were killed, 890 wounded and 26 were missing or captured.

The American command said 1,260 of the enemy were killed last week, while 163 South Vietnamese troops were reported killed.

U.S. planes flew 100 missions against North Vietnam Wednesday.

In addition to the raid on the missile assembly camp, Navy bombers also pounded a shipyard in Haiphong, while Air Force fighter-bombers ranged up and down the main northeast

17 Entered in Junior Miss Contest

The annual Southwest Arkansas District Junior Miss Contest will be held at Hope High School here on October 21. Outstanding high school senior girls from seven southwest counties have been selected to compete to be State Delegates to the Arkansas Junior Miss Pageant in Little Rock, December 27-29. The Hope High School Student Council is assisting with the program.

The seniors will report at 9 a.m. for a full day of activities with the finals show at 8 p.m. The official delegates here are: Becky Carrett, Judy McKinnon, Charlotte Easterling, Janet Jordan, Prescott: Linda Fox, Murrellsboro: Carlette Lovell, DeQueen: Linda Pogue, Kay Cranford, Horatio: Vicki Young, Leigh Atkinson, Foreman: Sue Wright, Winthrop: Janice Floyd, Virginia McLain, Blevins: Susan Arivett, Glenwood: Brenda Brackman, Bradley: Elizabeth Spigner, Ashdown: Donna Byers, Hope. These seventeen girls were chosen on the basis of scholarship, leadership and community activities.

The purpose of the program is to select the ideal high school senior girl through projected goals and incentives with awards of scholarships and prizes. The Arkansas Junior Miss program won first place in the nation in 1966-67 . . . California and Arizona also won this honor. Arkansas' own Rosemary Dunaway is now America's Junior Miss, 1967. She is attending Sweet Briar College in Virginia. Last year the State Junior Miss program awarded over $11,000 in scholarships and prizes. The present SW Junior Miss is Phoebe Johnson of Prescott. She and Nancy Birkhead, Arkansas' Junior Miss, will be the local show stars Saturday.

Dollarway Faculty to Desegregate

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Dollarway School Board said Wednesday that the faculty in its school district in Jefferson County would be desegregated next fall.

The board told the federal District Court here that it already had made "preliminary arrangements" to desegregate the faculty at each school to the same extent that the school's student body is desegregated.

It asked the court to dismiss a complaint filed Sept. 28 by Negro parents who are unhappy with the pace of faculty and pupil desegregation.

The district, which is at the northern edge of Pine Bluff, operates the predominantly-white Dollarway School and the all-Negro Townsend Park School.

The board said 49 Negro students were attending grades 1-12 at Dollarway this year, along with 1,222 white students. It said 1,400 Negroes were enrolled at Townsend Park.

The complaint from the parents of eight Negro students was filed as a supplement to a 1959 suit that resulted in a court order directing the district to begin desegregation with the first grade in 1960.

The last previous court action in the case was in 1963, when the district was ordered to begin desegregation at the high school level.

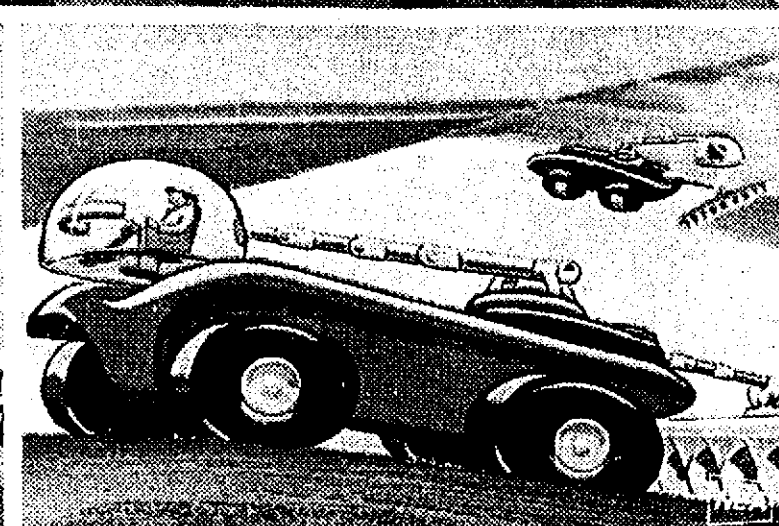

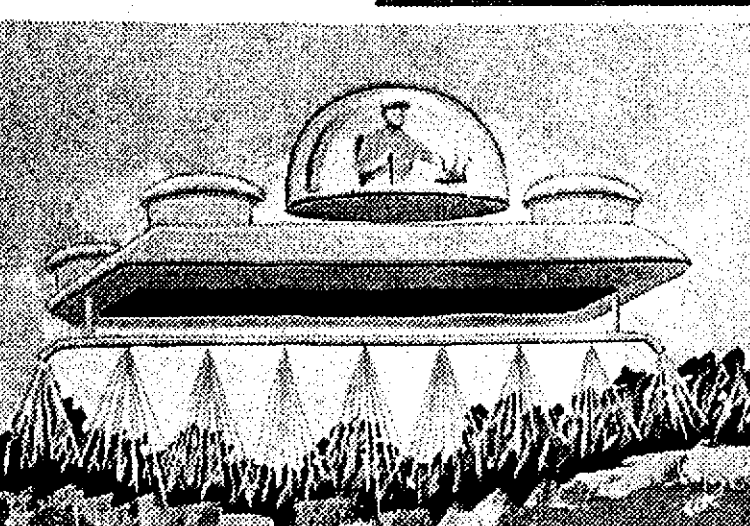

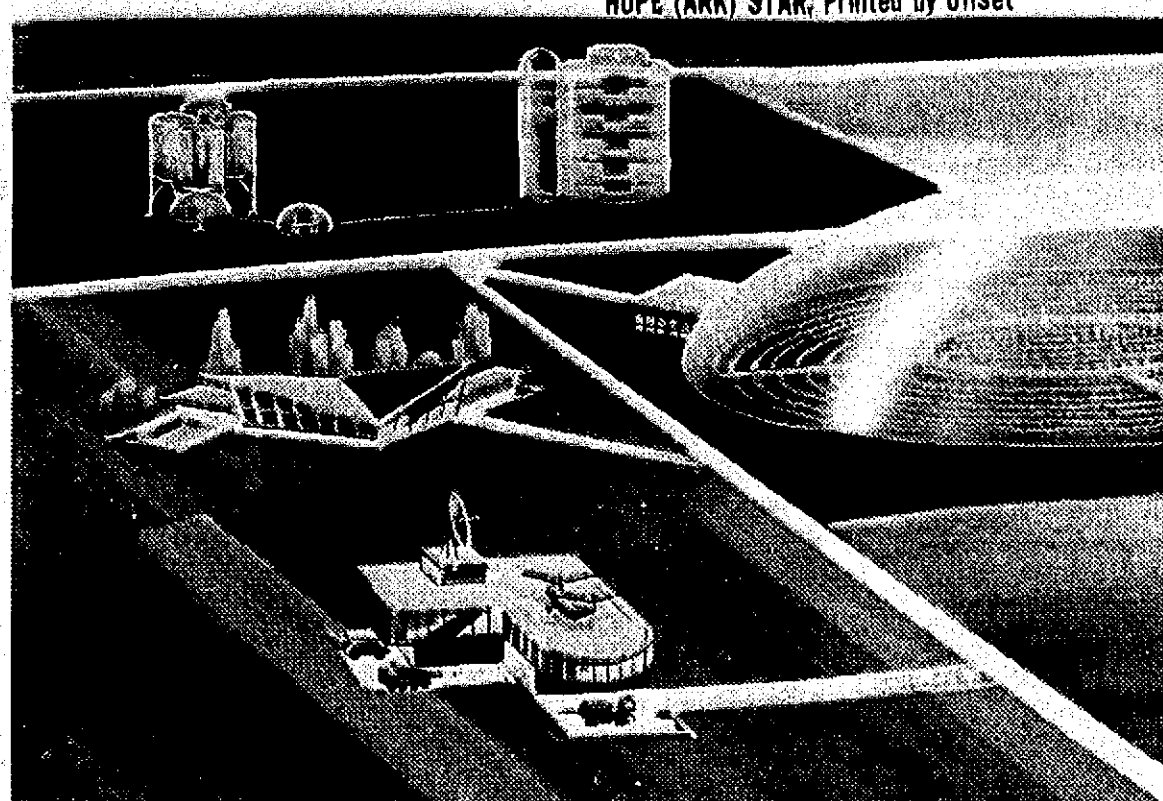

The board amended its original desegregation plan in 1966 to permit it to assign pupils on a freedom of choice basis.

It said Wednesday that every student in the district now had been given at least one opportunity to select the school of his choice, and "every student in the district is attending the school of his choice."

The Negro parents contended in their complaint that there had been no faculty desegrega-

21st Century Futurized Farming

The world is staring starvation in the face, according to some agrarian prophets, and to meet the food needs of a growing world, farming will become increasingly more sophisticated. These Ford Motor Co. drawings, based on consultation with farm experts, give some insight into the farm scene by the turn of the century.

THE BATTLE FOR FOOD by the year 2000 may bring some of the above into common use. Top drawing shows a farm with high-rise cattle barn and a warehouse complex and refinery at left where barn waste is purified and recirculated back to the barn. At right is a huge plastic dome covering 10 acres or more, under which crops are grown in a computer-controlled environment. To the left foreground is a modern farmhouse, and in front of that the control center for directing the work of riderless electronic field equipment. Other possibilities include, lower left, a hovercraft for spraying crops and, lower right, tractors run on four- or six-wheel drive and powered by electric drive, fuel cells or storage batteries. For a look at implement's performance, driver can propel cab to the rear, as on tractor in background.

tion, and that the board's freedom of choice plan had resulted in only "token desegregation" of Dollarway School and none at Townsend Park.

The first plastic billiard balls appeared in 1868.

Heading to Sidetrack Are Many Railway Post Office Cars

By WILLIAM J. CONWAY Associated Press Writer CHICAGO (AP) — Gone are the Arrow and the Phoebe Snow.

Heading for the sidetrack are many railway post office cars which once rolled through snow, the gloom of night and six-shooter stickups.

Many passenger trains soon will be routed to the end of the line, done in by the loss of mail revenue and a decline in riders.

Railroads claim they have been losing mail and passenger income for a long time, but the situation hit the public right in the eye recently when the Post Office Department announced that it plans to eliminate railway post office cars from 162 passenger trains.

That will mean an annual loss in revenue of more than $17 million for the lines affected.

An Associated Press survey of reaction shows that railroads plan to eliminate 43 passenger trains, if federal and state regulatory agencies approve.

William J. Hartigan, assistant postmaster general, said that eventually all railway post office cars probably will be discontinued.

The post office cars have been fixtures for a century. In 1862 the postmaster of St. Joseph, Mo., tried the idea of sorting mail on moving trains between Hannibal and St. Joseph to avoid delays in speeding letters to the West.

Service began in 1864. Much of its history has been in-formation.

Jesse James and his gang went in for robbing banks and trains during the first two decades after the Civil War.

The robbers grew so bold in the tempestuous 1920s that U.S. Marines were assigned to guard post offices, railway mail cars and postal trucks in the fall of 1921.

"If attacked, shoot and shoot to kill," ordered Navy Secretary Edward Denby. "There is no compromise."

The heists came to an abrupt halt. Then, in 1924, a gang took $2 million from a mail train near Roundout, Ill., the biggest grab of all.

Times, and methods of traveling and shipping, have changed. The number of mail sorting cars has dropped about 2,500 in less than 15 years. The total is down to 699, and dwindling.

Railroads still are handling much mail. But, under the new Zip plan, mail is shipped in bulk by the fastest means available: air, rail or highway — among 752 section sorting centers around the country.

The decline in money from rental of postal railway cars has prompted railroads to petition regulatory bodies for permission to take passenger trains from the rails.

The Erie-Lackawanna has discontinued the Phoebe Snow's runs between Hoboken, N.J., and Chicago.

The Pennsylvania Railroad

eliminated its Arrow between Chicago and New York. A string of other lines also have drastically curtailed their profitless passenger services.

Comsat Is Loaded With Cash

By STERLING F. GREEN Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Loaded with cash and eager to spend it, the Communications Satellite Corp. hopes to buy its way to dominance in an eventual merger of all the major American overseas cable and radio companies.

Comsat's hopes are buoyed by a growing sentiment in Washington favoring an American "chosen instrument"—a single company monopoly—to replace the competing corporations in the international field.

A bill was drafted this summer with White House blessing, officials have disclosed, to remove the antitrust barriers for a voluntary merger of any or all of the four major international common carriers.

The so-called permissive merger bill was shelved before it reached Congress. Instead, President Johnson sent a special message Aug. 14 announcing creation of a 16-member Presidential Task Force on Communications Policy. He ordered it to study every aspect of the field, including merger, and report within a year.

Most officials predict privately the task force will recommend a similar permissive bill, backed this time by the prestige of a governmentwide commission to help overcome the ingrained public suspicion of monopoly in any field.

All three of the major international "record" carriers—those dealing in messages, not voice transmission—have shown interest at some time in some kind of merger. Not necessarily a merger with Comsat, however, and perhaps least of all a merger that would put Comsat in control.

The three are RCA Communications, Inc., ITT World Communications, Inc., and Western Union International. The fourth overseas carrier, the mighty American Telephone & Telegraph Co., presumably would be invited also to toss its voice, or telephone operations into the merger. AT&T has shown no interest whatsoever.

The "record" carriers, on the other hand, can only look forward to a middleman's future of renting circuits from AT&T or Comsat and selling time on them while others exploit the new satellite technology.

Gen. David Sarnoff, chairman of RCA, acknowledged after Comsat orbited its early bird satellite in 1965 that his company and the others which offer

Homecoming at Yerger High School

By LINDA WILLIAMS Yerger Sports Writer

What's all the action around Yerger a fan asked me. As we listen we hear the loud Roars of the Tigers.

David Benton and Ronald Moses say, "Watch out for this Homecoming, and we're biting harder than ever." Johnny Smith and Spencer Brown roar out, "Watch it Cats we will call your bluff, Y.H.S. has the stuff." Richard Carter and Thomas Lloyd say, "Victory is our cry." There are more Roars, that you will be hearing from this week, as the Tigers vs Panthers.

Now we pass through the halls and whom do we see, beautiful young ladies in lovely gowns, getting ready for the carnation Saturday Oct. 20, in Yerger gymnasium. As we wander pass the counselor office we meet the president of the student council. He doesn't have much time he's in a hurry trying to get the campus ready for Saturday. But he says to the boys "Play ball Saturday, please don't let us down."

Go — Fight — Win The Game. Who is that, or should I say who are they. None other than Yerger Tigers Cheerleaders. They also promise the Panther fans a hard time in cheering.

I hear drums, horns, and a singer. They could be none other than the Yerger High Band and their friendly band director, Mr. Benefield. The band consist of 62 members. Wait, a minute I hear one Roar all over the rest. Who is she? Evelyn Walker. Marilyn Weston — leading, Linda Brown, Barbara Chambers, Lynda Phillips, Norma Smith, Neva Tate, and Shirley Stuart. We must not forget little Miss Hicks.

The Drill Team will be performing this week also. So I say to you fans if you want to see a good football game and a tremendous half time performance come out Saturday night.

only message service are providing "a one-legged type of competition to the fellow who can give you both"—meaning, both voice and record.

President Johnson virtually demanded of his new task force a recommendation on the merger issue. His message called attention to costly duplication of U.S. facilities, to disputes between Comsat and the surface carriers, and to this country's problems in worldwide communications negotiations "since we do not speak with a single voice" as all other countries do.

"There is a legitimate question as to whether the present division of ownership continues to be in the public interest," Johnson said.

The message recognized the "instinctive" American preference for multiple companies in every field. But official sources have disclosed that even the Justice Department, the government's antitrust watchdog, assented to the permissive bill before it was shelved.

SHOWBEAT

By DICK KLEINER
NEA Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — After a recent screening of "Cool Hand Luke," everybody was talking about the tremendous job George Kennedy did in that powerful movie. Paul Newman is great, but Kennedy matches him, scene after scene.

"It's a good movie for me," Kennedy says. "It's the first time they've hung half a picture on me."

Since then, he's had a couple more half-pictures — "The Ballad of Josie" with Doris Day and "The Jolly Pink Jungle" with James Garner — but none aren't out yet. And now he's off to Arizona and Texas to shoot "Bandolero" with James Stewart, Dean Martin and Raquel Welch.

Kennedy wants to reach the top and his "Cool Hand Luke" director, Stuart Rosenberg, gave him this philosophy on the art of top-reaching.

Stuart told me there are only two ways to make it big," Kennedy says. "You either make it through being sensual or being funny. Look at the men who've made it lately — Lee Marvin and Jim Coburn and Steve McQueen are sensual. Walter Matthau is funny."

Rosenberg thinks Kennedy can make it the sensual route. George thinks he can be any too.

Whatever way he elects to go, the odds are George Kennedy is a coming major star. At Laine Kazan's opening of the Century Plaza, and she topped the show with her high notes and low dress — I sat with Phil Ford and Mimi Limes and Ray Katz and Molly Haas. Phil and Mimi are here to do "Funny Girl" at Melodyland.

Molly Haas is an exceptionally beautiful German actress. She lost a big part a year ago because she couldn't speak any English. So she came to Hollywood, sat herself down in front of a television set, didn't speak any German — and today her English is beautiful and she is set for "May-oring" with Omar Sharif.

Elke Sommer and her husband, Joe Hyams, made a bet, which I am the witness to. The bet — whether or not Laine Kazan makes it big. One of them said yes, the other no, but it wouldn't be fair to say which. The stakes are $100.

Among others present — Cara Williams, Bob Culp (in a turtle-neck sweater, a new fashion I find appalling), Gypsy Rose Lee (who told me how she had read one of my columns on her program), Jack Carter, David Wayne and George Burns, who introduced Laine in his inimitable, too-off-color way.

Terry-Thomas chuckled with delight with the way he had outfoxed James Fox in a billing squabble. Terry-Thomas played four parts in "Arabella," but James Fox got star billing over the title anyhow.

So Terry-Thomas asked for, and got, a separate listing which reads:

Guest stars: Terry-Thomas, Terry-Thomas, Terry-Thomas and Terry-Thomas.

And that should steal the thunder from B'er Fox.

In "Speedway," director Norman Taurog wanted a disheveled look different. So he bought 20 old cars at $100 each, cut off the hoods and tops and put little tables in them.

It worked out so well the idea may be used by a real discotheque.

Airports to Get More Crowded

WASHINGTON (AP) — If you think airports are crowded now, wait until 1980, says the Federal Aviation Administration.

It said the nation's 22 busiest air centers will handle 370 million passengers in 1980 compared to 70 million in 1965. There will be 75 million takeoffs or landings compared with 20 million in 1965, and 15 times as much air cargo will be handled.

HOW MUCH IS $143.5 BILLION?

The administration estimates the cost of operating the government during the current fiscal year — from July 1, 1967, to June 30, 1968 — at $143.5 billion. The total may be too huge for most citizens to grasp, but bring it down to the cost per briefer time units and it is very clear that government is a very expensive operation.

Borrowing Proves to Be Expensive

By GEORGE TAYLOR
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Communities across the nation are finding it expensive to borrow money to build schools, roads and sewers. High interest rates in the municipal bond market are forcing some to postpone projects.

New York City is one of the latest to feel the keen competition by communities and corporations to borrow the big investor's dollar.

This week the city borrowed $191.1 million through the sale of bonds at an interest rate of 4.91 per cent — highest the city has paid since 1932.

But others haven't been lucky enough to get the money they wanted.

A compilation by the Bond Buyer, daily trade paper, shows that 12 communities have postponed $88.3 million in borrowings since mid-September because of high interest rates.

The largest was the Houston, Texas, Independent School District, which delayed borrowing $39.8 million.

Some localities didn't get any bids from underwriters or else ran into their own legal limits on interest rates. These included Daytona Beach and Boca Raton, Fla., Consolidated School District of Warren, Mich., and St. Louis County, Mo.

"Money isn't tight but it is certainly dear," said Truxton Pratt, vice president of Bankers Trust in New York.

The municipalities and corporations are caught in a fiscal web stretching back to the tight money situation and credit crunch of last summer.

Banks which used to be big buyers in the municipal bond market are buying shorter-term investments, one analyst said.

Another source on Wall

Street, where virtually all the nation's bond dealings are handled, said the communities themselves are providing some of their own competition.

This comes in floating industrial revenue bonds, permitted in 40 states. These bonds are issued by a community to build an industrial facility for lease to a corporation, often with an option to buy.

The bonds generally carry a higher interest rate than straight municipals and siphon some investors away from the municipal market.

The communities' need for money shows no signs of easing. For October, they have listed $1.2 billion in bonds for sale for a nine months' total of $10.85 billion, said Salomon Brothers & Hutzler, a large investment firm.

Of the nine months' total, $620 million will be in industrial bonds.

This year's total is almost certain to surpass last year's when localities borrowed $11.08 billion.

The demand for money also is pushing up investors' yields in the corporate bond market to record levels. Northern States Power Co. this week sold $30 million in bonds which were offered to the public at a 6.44 per cent yield.

She Convinced the Judge

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Titled-haired Tasha O'Rion convinced the judge Monday there was reasonable doubt she was guilty of following a car too closely.

Judge Hazen Mathews acquitted the 23-year-old actress of the traffic violation after she told him: "I was 150 feet behind that man. Besides, I don't follow men — they follow me."

Safety Signs in School Areas

Computer Autopilot Flies First Jet

WASHINGTON (AP) — An autopilot linked to a computer flew the first F111A jet fighter aircraft geared for combat use from Fort Worth, Tex., to Nellis Air Force Base, Nev., Monday.

The Pentagon said the plane's terrain-following radar kept the craft 1,000 feet above ground during the 1,047-mile flight. A pilot and copilot were aboard the plane, formerly called TFX, whose design and development has spurred a dispute among military men, Congress and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara since 1962.

Squeeze Is Now a Bear Hug

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — The cost-price squeeze for farmers isn't a squeeze any more, Sen. Frank Carlson, R-Kan., said Thursday.

"It has become a bear hug," he said. "How can the farmer survive when everything he sells goes down in price, and everything he must buy has gone up and keeps climbing?"

Radium gives off three kinds of radiation — alpha, beta and gamma rays.

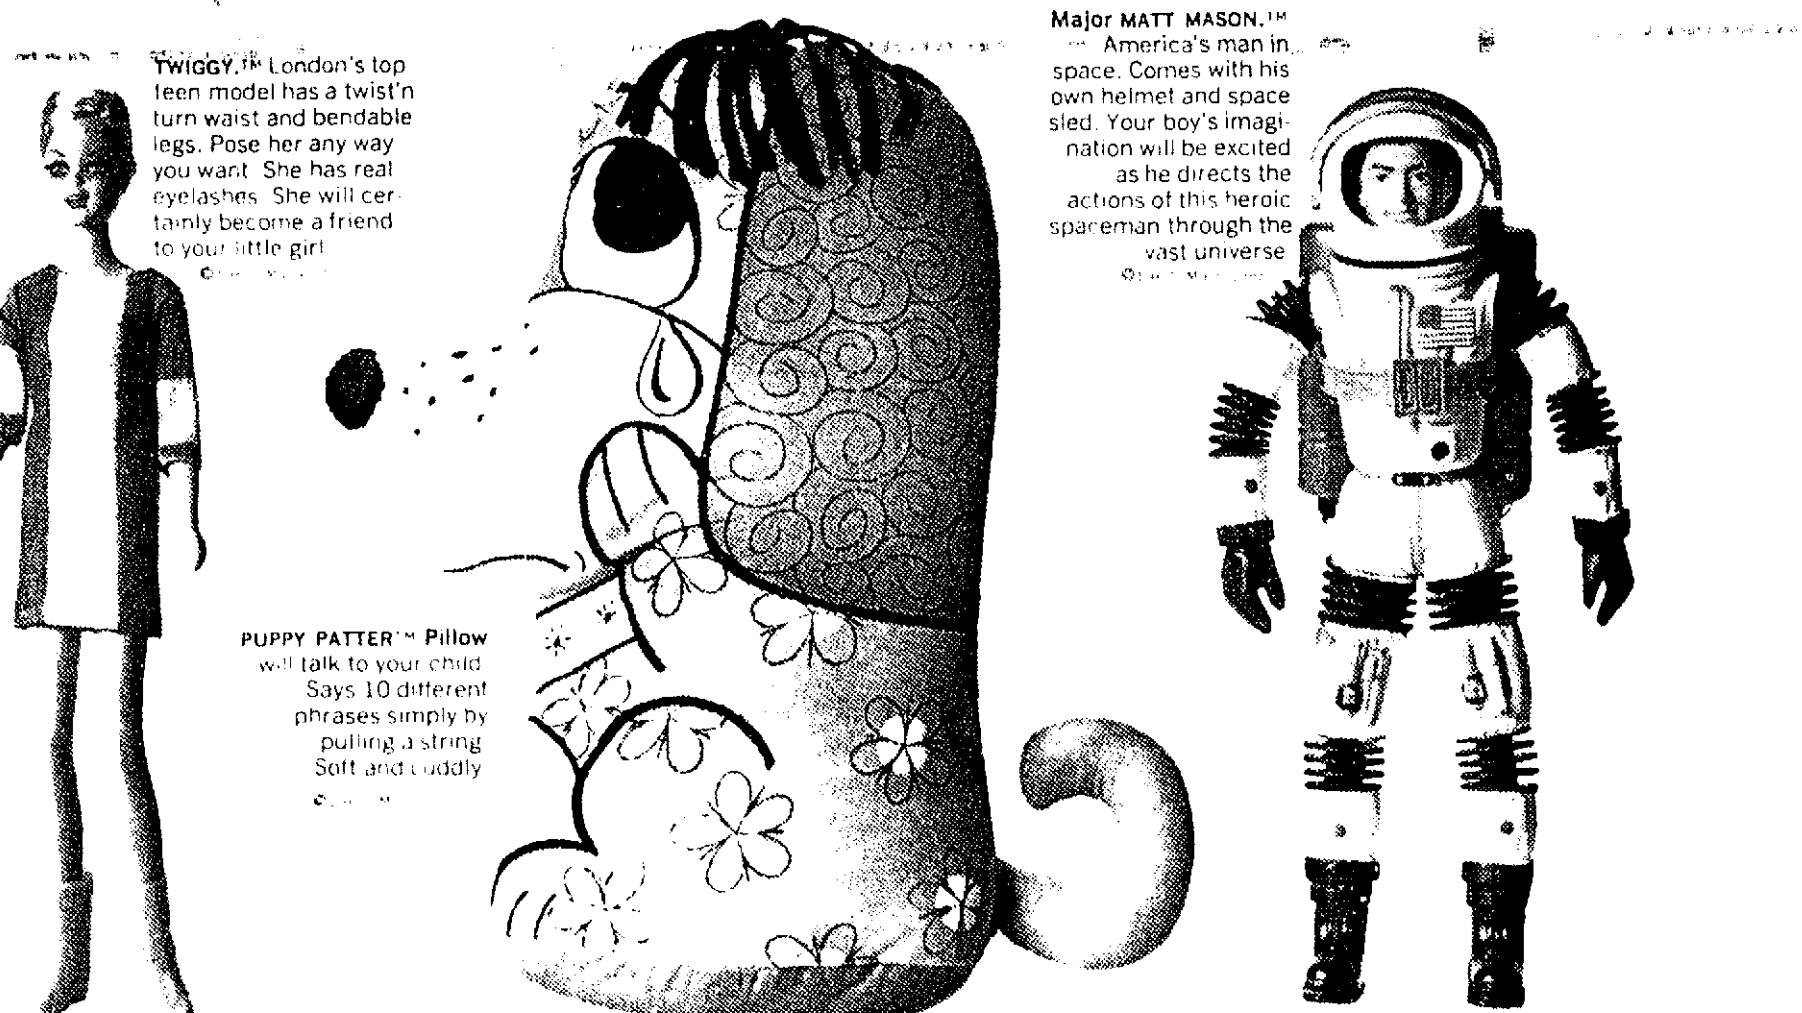

Hope Patrolman Joe McCulley shows Vice-President and Cashier Mitchell LaGrone of the Citizens National Bank one of the 18 safety signs sponsored by the Bank and erected in school and park areas where children's traffic is heavy.

The signs are designed to warn motorists of areas where children might be crossing or playing.

We care

Who cares
if the blueberries
in our blueberry pie are wild!

Some people may not care...but we care.
Your grandmother's classic blueberry pies were baked with juicy, wild berries, not with today's pulpier, cultivated ones.

So, we're stubborn.

Only wild berries get into our Jane Parker Blueberry Pies.

In fact, we care so much about such things,
we've made just one big change in the classic recipe:
We bake only wild berries that are U.S. Grade A!

We've been in the baking business for 50 years.
And that's the way we are about all our baking.

To celebrate our golden anniversary as bakers, this week, we're featuring Jane Parker Blueberry Pie at a price that's as wild as the berries...49¢.

If you want proof that caring this much counts, try a Jane Parker Blueberry Pie this week.

SAFEWAY PROMISES YOU PERFECT-EATING MEAT...

A combination of things makes our money-back guarantee possible

JUST THE TOP GOVERNMENT GRADES

Quality comes first! Every steak, chop and roast of beef or lamb you buy at Safeway is from one of the top Government grades. (All of our pork, veal and calf is from top grades, too.) Only by starting with fine quality meat can you expect to get consistent tenderness, juiciness and excellent flavor.

SPECIAL CARE PROTECTS QUALITY

Our meat experts, using modern equipment and proven techniques, leave nothing to chance in bringing Safeway meats to you. Humidity and temperature are carefully controlled to protect the tenderness, juiciness and flavor of each cut.

EXCESS BONE and FAT TRIMMED OFF

Our close-trim method of preparing meat for sale gives better eating and better value. Each cut is prepared just right for the way it is to be cooked. Note, too, how little fat and bone remains on Safeway steaks, chops and roasts when they are weighed.

GUARANTEE

If ever a purchase of Safeway Meat fails to please for any reason whatsoever, just tell us. We will refund your money promptly, courteously. There's no need to return the meat.
